PRESENTING THE ELEVENTH ANNUAL

RELIGIOUS LIBERTY STUDENT WRITING COMPETITION

Deadline; July 1, 2020

purpose:

The purpose of this competition is to promote legal and academic studies in the field of religious liberty by law students pursuing related graduate studies. Students who have graduated from law school, but are not yet practicing law due to clerkships or other similar pursuits are also eligible to submit papers.

form:

Scholarly papers relating to the topic of domestic or international religious liberty, broadly or narrowly construed, with a length of between 9,000 and 13,000 words, including footnotes. Eligible papers must be typed, thoroughly cited, and presented in a format suitable for publication, with no additional editing required. Papers must conform to Bluebook requirements and may include footnotes. Papers prepared for academic coursework are permitted.

submission:

All papers must be submitted on or before July 1, 2020. Papers should be e-mailed to jrclsdc@gmail.com in .pdf and/or .docx formats. The cover email should note the word count of the paper being submitted. A current resume should also be included. You will receive e-mail confirmation of your submission. Questions regarding submissions may be directed to jrclsdc@gmail.com.

awards:

FIRST PLACE$4,000 cash awardSECOND PLACE$3,000 cash awardTHIRD PLACE$2,000 cash awardHONORABLE MENTIONUp to four $1,000 cash awards selection:

Papers will be reviewed for conformity to the above requirements and for substantive treatment of the topic. Awards will be presented at the Religious Liberty Award Dinner in Washington, DC on October 8, 2020.

In submitting papers to the competition, the author consents to publication of the article in electronic and possibly other forms under the auspices of the International Center for Law and Religion Studies. The Center will cooperate to facilitate publication of the papers in other settings as needed or requested by the author.

Sponsored by the Washington DC / Mid-Atlantic Chapter of the J. Reuben Clark Law Society & The International Center for Law and Religion Studies