

Religion and Conflict: Past and Future

What's Religion Got to Do With It?

a panel discussion

Anand Gopal

Journalist and Assistant Research Professor
Center for the Study of Religion and Conflict and School of Politics and Global Studies

Margaret Hanson

Assistant Professor
School of Politics and Global Studies

Okechukwu Iheduru

Professor
School of Politics and Global Studies

Güneş Murat Tezcür

Director and Professor
School of Politics and Global Studies

moderated by

Jason Bruner

Interim Director, Center for the Study of Religion and Conflict
Director, Desert Humanities Initiative
Professor, Religious Studies

February 22, 2024

3 – 4:15 p.m. MST

West Hall 135

ASU Tempe campus

1000 Cady Mall, Tempe, AZ 85281

This panel discussion continues a series of lectures examining the past and future of religion and conflict. Four scholars will discuss how religion, conflict and politics are (and aren't) related in West Africa, the Middle East and Central Asia. What does it mean to call something a "religious conflict"? Where might we place too much emphasis on religion as a factor in political life?

Launched in celebration of the Center's 20th anniversary, the Religion and Conflict: Past and Future lecture series explores continuities and new developments in our understanding of religion, conflict and peace.

Register
today

asuevents.asu.edu/relcon